About British Education Network

The British Education Network (BEN) represents a vast network of educational offices that promote, facilitate and managing the delivery of British educational courses in different parts of Nigeria. These offices operate as enrolment and course delivery centres for students who are interested in embarking on British academic programmes right here in Nigeria.

The courses are designed and moderated by fully accredited British colleges that operate in partnership with the British Education Network. The lecturers are professionals who have expertise and teaching experience in the subject areas that they teach. These lecturers are drawn from local universities, industry and from the United Kingdom.

The assessment examinations for the courses are set and moderated by the respective participating UK College and the qualifications are awarded by the respective UK College or institute. British Education Network centres are responsible for teaching and conducting the examinations set by the UK Colleges, and in some cases moderated by a UK professional institute. The courses are all accredited or recognised by a recognised UK accrediting body.

Relationship with UK Colleges

The following accredited UK colleges have strategic partnership agreement with British Education Network to participate in this venture:-

Trans-Atlantic College, London www.transatlanticcollege.co.uk (accredited by the Accreditation Service for International Colleges); and

College of Venereal Disease Prevention www.cvdpc.co.uk (accredited by the Accreditation Service for International Colleges)

Accreditation of the Colleges

Both colleges are accredited by the Accreditation Service for International Colleges (ASIC) www.asic.org.uk is one of only three college accreditation bodies that are recognised by the government of the United Kingdom.

UK Professional Institutes

Our UK partnership colleges have established accreditation and/or affiliation arrangements with the following professional educational institutes in the United Kingdom, so that they give additional accreditation and recognition to the courses:-

Corporate Training and Consultancy Services

BEN provides training (short, medium or long-term courses) to public and private sector companies and organisations on consultancy basis. We can also provide bespoke training packages to such organisations to help them build capacity in their various areas of education. All of this is done in conjunction with our partnership UK colleges and with appropriate professional institutes in the United Kingdom.

Where the courses are specialist in nature, experts from the United Kingdom will be brought to deliver the training and provide the required consultancy services. We work closely with our corporate clients in order that their specific training needs are met.
